Financial Literacy & Earned Income Tax Credit Assistance Day for Working Families

Sunday, April 10, 2011

10:00 am to 6:00 pm

SEIU Local 99

2724 W. 8th Street, Los Angeles, CA 90005

The Government May Owe You Money!

An event with volunteer income tax assistance professionals (VITA) will be available to provide tax-filing assistance and financial literacy materials to workers eligible for the Earned Income Tax Credit.

500 free recyclable grocery bags filled with financial literacy information (EITC, financial aid, money-saving tips, etc.) will be available for individuals scheduled for assistance and those working families who are simply seeking information to consider at their convenience and wish to complete their tax return on their own time.

Earned Income Tax Credit Overview

Low and moderate income individuals and families who earned less than $49,000 in 2010 can qualify for up to $12,000 in federal tax credits, including a $5,600 Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC). The EITC is not claimed by about 20 percent of eligible taxpayers. Many workers fail to claim the EITC because they have not earned enough income to owe taxes and do not file the tax return necessary to qualify for the tax refund.

Call 916-956-2211 to schedule an appointment on April 10, 2011.

Availability of appointments is limited and scheduled on a first-come, first-serve basis.
